Important disclosures

See your Coinbase One Card Cardholder Agreement for definitions and other important information.

This statement is being sent for informational purposes only and is not an attempt to collect a debt. If you have filed for bankruptcy and are protected by the bankruptcy stay or discharge, this is not a demand for payment.

How to make payments: You can make electronic payments to your Account through the Coinbase app. We credit electronic payments made by 11:59 PM ET on the business day the payment is made. Payments received after that time, or on a non-business day, will be credited the next business day.

How to avoid paying interest on purchases: We don't charge interest on Purchases if you pay your New Balance in full by the Payment Due Date each Billing Cycle—this is called a grace period. If you lose the grace period, you'll need to pay your New Balance in full for two consecutive Billing Cycles to get it back. There's no grace period for Cash Advances—interest starts on the date the transaction posts and continues until paid in full.

Credit reporting disclosure: We may report information about your Account to credit bureaus. Late payments, missed payments, or other defaults on your Account may be reflected in your credit report. If you believe that there is an error in the information we have reported about you to a credit bureau, contact us at: First Electronic Bank, c/o Coinbase One Card 350 Townsend St., #610, San Francisco, CA 94107.

Billing Rights Summary: If you think there is an error on your statement, write to us at: First Electronic Bank, c/o Coinbase One Card, 350 Townsend St., #610, San Francisco, CA 94107. You may also contact us at support@creditcard.coinbase.com. You must contact us within 60 days after the error appeared on your statement.
